Privacy Policy
We collect information about our users in three ways: (i) directly from the users; (ii) from our web server logs; and (iii) through cookies and other technologies. We use the information primarily to provide you with a personalized internet experience that delivers the information, resources, and services that are most relevant and helpful to you. We do not share any of the information you provide with others, unless we say so in this Privacy Policy or when we believe in good faith that the law requires it.

What information we collect
When you browse the Site and do not interact with the Site for any online service or product from SCCM, you browse anonymously. Information that identifies you personally, such as name, address, phone number, and email address, is not collected as you browse.
When you choose to interact with us we will collect certain personal information from you.

Information You Provide
The types of personal information that is collected from you may include:
- Contact details, such as your name, e-mail address, postal address, and telephone number;
- Educational and professional background;
- Comments, feedback, posts and other content you submit; and
- Interest and communication preferences.

Information automatically collected
The Site also automatically collects, through our servers and the use of cookies (small text files sent to your computer), web beacons (also known as clear or single pixel .gifs), and other technologies, information that tells us how you use the Site, such as:
- Internet Protocol (“IP”) address to connect your computer to the Internet;
- Computer, device and connection information, such as browser type and version, operating system, mobile platform and unique device identifier (“UDID”) and other technical identifiers;
- Uniform Resource Locator (“URL”) click stream data, including data and time stamp, referring and exit URLs, search terms you used, and pages you visited or searched for on the Site; and
- For location-aware services, the physical location of your device in order to provide you with more relevant content for where you are in the world.

You can control cookies through your browser’s settings and other tools. However, if you block certain cookies, you may not be able to register, login, access certain parts or make full use of the Site.

How we use the information we collect
We may use your information to provide technical, product and other support and help keep the Site working, safe, and secure.

Access and Control
If you wish to remove any information or Content you have provided SCCM, you may do so by contacting SCCM at either info@sccm.org or 1(847) 827-6869.

Disclosure of information
We may use and disclose information that does not reveal your identity or permit direct association with any specific individual, such as browser and device information, anonymous usage data and aggregated information, for any purpose, except where we are restricted by law. If we combine non-personal information with personal information, the combined information will be treated as personal information for as long it remains combined.

We may also need to disclose your personal information to (i) respond to or comply with any law, regulation, subpoena, court order or other legal obligation; (ii) enforce and protect our rights and properties; (iii) detect, investigate and help prevent security threats, fraud or other malicious activity; and (iv) protect the rights, property, or safety of our users, employees or others.

Children under 13
The Society does not knowingly, intentionally, or purposely solicit data online from or market online to children under the age of thirteen (13).

Information Security
The Society takes precautions to safeguard your personal information against loss, theft and misuse and unauthorized access, disclosure, alteration and destruction through the use of appropriate administrative, physical and technical security measures.

Site Security Features

SSL Technology for SCCM Store
SCCM requires a “secure session” using Secure Socket Layer ("SSL") technology for any purchases made through the online store. SSL technology creates a private conversation that only your computer and the SCCM systems can understand. The SSL technology encodes information as it is being sent over the internet between your computer and SCCM systems, helping to ensure that the transmitted information remains confidential.

No guarantee
The Society cannot guarantee nor warrant the security of information you transmit to us, nor from our online products and/or services as no data transmission is guaranteed to be 100% secure. Your browser software might “cache” a page as you look at it, meaning that some pages are saved on your computer’s temporary memory even after you “log out” to end a secure session. As a result, while we strive to protect your personal information, we cannot guarantee nor warrant the security of any information you transmit to or from this Site, and you do so at your own risk.

General Provisions

_Governing Law and Venue._ These Terms and Conditions and all matters regarding your use of the Site shall be governed by, construed in accordance with, and enforced under the laws of the State of Illinois, USA. _Entire Agreement._ Except as provided, the Terms, together with any revisions, additional terms and conditions, constitute the entire agreement between you and SCCM relating to the Site and its use by you.
